

#IDBHP

SAVE THE BALTIC PORPOISES

Critically Endangered • Biggest threats are bycatch, pollution, prey depletion, and disturbance from underwater noise
Through echolocation • Less than 500 left in the Baltic Sea • The only cetacean native to the Baltic Sea • Grow up to 1.8m long and weigh 45-70kg • Reach sexual maturity in 3-4 years • Communicates and navigates through echolocation • Phocoena phocoena • Small toothed whale • Prey depletion, and disturbance from underwater noise

